Background

Clovis Community Medical Center has grown in scope and reputation since its establishment in 1965 as the 35-bed, acute-care Clovis Memorial Hospital located at DeWitt and Sierra avenues in Clovis, California. In 1979, the hospital merged with then-Fresno Community Hospital, and in 1982 was renamed Clovis Community Hospital.

In 1988, Clovis Community Hospital opened at its current location on the northeast corner of Herndon and Temperance avenues on a 120-acre campus. Known today as Clovis Community Medical Center, and one of Community Medical Centers' four inpatient hospitals, it is often Valley residents first choice for women's services, advanced surgeries and comprehensive care.

Outpatient Expansion

Clovis Community's Outpatient Care Center was built in 2002 and is one of the busiest outpatient surgery centers in the area, performing an average of 850 outpatient surgeries per month in its nine operating rooms. A dedicated endoscopy center was completed in a 2009 expansion project which included adding a six-bay pre-operative area, four procedure rooms, a private family conference space and private patient exit with a reserved patient pick-up area.

Breast care services were also expanded at this time, allowing the Marjorie E. Radin Breast Care Center to continue meeting the unique needs of patients while setting a new standard of care for breast health through advanced technology and a multidisciplinary approach to care.

Inpatient Expansion

To help meet the Central Valley's continued growth in population, in 2008 Clovis Community embarked on a massive $300 million expansion and renovation project focused on inpatient expansion of beds and increased access to care.

This expansion and renovation nearly doubled the hospital's capacity from 109 to 208 private rooms with the addition of a new 5-story patient bed tower — making Clovis Community the only comprehensive hospital in the area with all-private rooms.

The expansion included a dedicated Women's and Infants' Pavilion with a new Level II neonatal intensive care unit, added surgical suites, a 200-seat conference center and a medical plaza for more physician offices on campus.

Clovis Community Medical Center employs over 2,750 full time, part time and per diem employees as of Sept. 27, 2023.

Voted Best Hospital

For the 10th year in a row, Clovis Community Medical Center was AGAIN voted BEST HOSPITAL.

Community Cancer Institute

A 100,000-square-foot Community Cancer Institute opened on the Clovis Community campus in August 2018, bringing comprehensive outpatient cancer services under one roof. Rivaling centers in Los Angeles and the Bay Area, Community Cancer Institute is Central California's premier comprehensive cancer center — and the only one in the area with many outpatient services in a single location. With cutting-edge cancer technology and a multidisciplinary team of physicians and support staff, the Community Cancer Institute offers one place for patients to come for their cancer treatment, clinic visits, lab work, medications and support services.

Continued Growth

Completed in fall 2022, Clovis Community's latest expansion and renovation project increased bed capacity by 144 inpatient beds, bringing the total number of private rooms from 208 to 352. Features of the project's newly expanded and renovated areas include:

- New 5-story bed tower with 144 private rooms, including 24 ICU beds
- Expanded surgical services with 6 new inpatient operating rooms
- Expanded and redesigned emergency department
- Expanded imaging department with new equipment
- Expanded support services such as kitchen and dining, laboratory, inpatient pharmacy, energy plant and more
- 617-stall multi-level parking structure
- Clinical and administrative general support building, including a new dialysis center

Heart & Lung Institute

The Heart & Lung Institute bridges the system-wide strengths of Community's three acute-care hospitals and takes cardiothoracic and pulmonary care to new levels by adding technology and services at Clovis Community. Here, the latest surgical and procedural additions include 3 cath labs, 2 cardiac operating rooms and 1 advanced hybrid operating room.

The teams at our acute care hospitals have been nationally recognized for their strides in heart care. And as our program expands across our system, Valley residents have even greater access to comprehensive cardiac care.

The Joint Commission Accreditation

Clovis Community Medical Center is accredited by The Joint Commission and has been awarded its Gold Seal of Approval™.
